This article aims at updating the recent progresses in the synthesis of catechol-functionalized polymers by systematically reviewing the different synthetic strategies to incorporate the catechol functionalities into (bio) macromolecules.

Recent Advances in the Synthesis of Catechol-Derived (Bio

Polymer is a substance composed of macromolecules (synonym: polymer molecules). Macromolecule = A molecule of high relative molecular mass, the structure of which essentially comprises the multiple repetition of units derived, actually or conceptually, from molecules of low relative molecular mass.

Synthesis of complex architectures. Polymerization reactions excluding a termination and transfer step are particularly useful for the synthesis of functionalized polymers with well defined architectures. The consumption of the monomer results in stable, anionic polymer chain ends, allowing reactions with a variety of electrophilic functional ...

2.2 Polarized light optical microscopy. The crystallization process of PPS around a microfilament of carbon fiber was observed on thin films using a polarized light optical microscope (Laica-DMLS) with automatic heating and cooling stages (Linkam THMS600).
